

John Choma earned his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees in electrical engineering from the University of Pittsburgh in 1963, 1965, and 1969, respectively. He is Professor of Electrical Engineering and the former Chair of the Ming Hsieh Department of Electrical Engineering at the University of Southern California.

A Fellow of the IEEE, Prof. Choma has been awarded the IEEE Millennium medal and has received three awards from the IEEE Circuits and Systems Society; namely, the Golden Jubilee Award, the 1999 Education Award, and the 2000 Meritorious Service Award. He is also the recipient of several local and national teaching awards and has served as a “Distinguished Lecturer” in the IEEE Circuits and Systems Society. In 2010, the Swanson School of Engineering of the University of Pittsburgh named Prof. Choma their “Distinguished Alumnus” for their Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering
