

David Teece is a Chaired Professor at the University of California Berkeley, where he is also Director of the Institute for Management Innovation and Organization. He has over 250 scholarly publications and three honorary doctorates. He is listed as one of the World's Top 50 Leading Business Intellectuals by Accenture. He is listed by ScienceWatch as a top 10 scholar world wide in economics and business for the decade 1995 – 2005 based on citation counts. He is also lead author of the most cited paper in all of economics and business for the decade 1995 – 2005 “Dynamic Capabilities and Strategic Management”, Strategic Management Journal, 1997. Professor Teece is also the cofounder and chairman of LECG Corporation, a NASDAQ listed expert services firm with over 1000 employees world wide.