

Friso den Hertog is Professor of Technology, Organizational Design and Policy at the Maastricht Economic Research Institute on Innovation and Technology (MERIT), Maastricht University. He is also senior consultant with Altuïtion bv in 's Hertogenbosch, The Netherlands. Friso den Hertog did his studies in organizational psychology at the University of Leiden before joining Philips, where he worked as an internal consultant and organization researcher. He obtained his PhD on job design from Delft Technical University in 1975. Friso den Hertog's current research interests are in knowledge management and the knowledge enterprise, organizational innovation, and research methods in organization science.