This year, International Journal of Theoretical and Applied Finance (IJTAF) celebrates its 14th year of publication. Our Managing Editors and Editor-in-Chief have been following the recent developments in the financial markets and in particular (a) the increasing demand for effective risk-management tools and (b) the crucial role of advanced mathematical methods in finance. With this in mind, IJTAF hopes that both academics and practitioners in the financial modeling community will take the opportunity to explore and learn more about this well-established journal.

For limited time only, you can access the below listed articles for FREE on our IJTAF's website. Do share this news with your colleagues and students.
