

Professor Ahmed H. Zewail (Ph.D.; D.Sc., h.c.) holds the Linus Pauling Chair at Caltech. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, fellow of the Third World Academy of Sciences and a member of the European Academy of Arts, Sciences and Humanities. He has received many honors and awards, including the International Carl Zeiss Award, the King Faisal Prize and the Wolf Prize. He has given over 250 invited lectures, including numerous named lectures, such as the Eyring, Watson, Faraday, Hinshelwood, Bernstein and Condon lectures. Over the years he has been a visiting professor to academic institutions in Holland, France, Germany, United Kingdom, Egypt and the United States. Professor Zewail is proud of the achievements of his students and research associates, and with them he has published some 270 articles. He is the editor of six books, the current North American editor of Chemical Physics Letters and the international series of Monographs on Chemistry (Oxford). The research interests of his group at Caltech are currently directed toward ultrafast lasers and their applications to research in the gas phase, in clusters and in the liquid state.
