

Alan Conrad Bovik is the Associate Director of the Center for Vision and Image Sciences and Director of the Laboratory for Image and Video Engineering at the University of Texas at Austin. He has published over 250 technical articles and holds US patents for the image and video compression algorithms VPIC and VPISC. He has also won several awards, including a two-time Honorable Mention winner of the International Pattern Recognition Society Award for Outstanding Contribution.