

Peter Koveos — Professor of Finance, Senior Director for International Programs, and Director, Kiebach Center for International Business Studies, School of Management, Syracuse University. He is also Associate Dean at the Shanghai-Syracuse International School of Business. He was recently awarded the White Yulan Prize, given by the Municipality of Shanghai to Foreign Experts that made outstanding contributions to Shanghai. Dr Koveos has written numerous articles in international economics and finance. His current interests are in the study of international financial markets and the nature of the transition process in China and Central and Eastern Europe. He has edited various volumes in international finance and has consulted for numerous companies in the US, Korea, Central and Eastern Europe and China.