

Contents

Preface	ix
1. THE IDEA OF PROGRESS	1
1.1 Cultural evolution	1
1.2 Condorcet	5
1.3 Godwin	11
1.4 Adam Smith	15
2. THE DISMAL SCIENCE	23
2.1 Malthus	23
2.2 Ricardo and the Iron Law of Wages	32
3. DARK SATANIC MILLS	39
3.1 Development of the steam engine	39
3.2 Working conditions	45
3.3 The slow acceptance of birth control in England	49
4. HOBSON'S THEORY	55
4.1 The colonial era	55
4.2 Hobson's explanation	57
4.3 The neocolonial era?	60
5. MAINSTREAM INDUSTRIALISM	63
5.1 Trade unions and minimum wage laws	63
5.2 Rising standards of living	69
5.3 Robber barons and philanthropists	69

5.4	The conflict between capitalism and communism	75
5.5	Globalization	77
5.6	Say's law	77
6.	VEBLLEN, GANDHI AND THE GREENS	81
6.1	Veblen; economics as anthropology	81
6.2	Gandhi as an economist	85
6.3	Thoreau	91
6.4	The counter-culture	95
6.5	The Brundtland Report	96
6.6	The Earth Summit at Rio	97
7.	GROWTH AND NONRENEWABLE RESOURCES	103
7.1	Biology and economics	103
7.2	The Club of Rome	106
7.3	Global energy resources	107
7.4	Hubbert peaks for oil and gas	109
7.5	Oilsands, tarsands and heavy oil	112
7.6	Coal	115
7.7	Climate change	116
7.8	Metals	121
7.9	Groundwater	122
7.10	Topsoil	123
8.	RENEWABLE ENERGY	129
8.1	Beyond the fossil fuel era	129
8.2	Biomass	130
8.3	Solar energy	133
8.4	Wind energy	139
8.5	Hydroelectric power	141
8.6	Energy from the ocean	144
8.7	Geothermal energy	146
8.8	Hydrogen technologies	149
8.9	Some concluding remarks	152
9.	ECONOMICS WITHOUT GROWTH	157
9.1	The transition from growth to a steady state - minimizing the trauma	157

9.2	Keynesian economics	159
9.3	The transition to a sustainable economy	166
9.4	Population and goods per capita	168
10.	OPTIMUM GLOBAL POPULATION	171
10.1	The Green Revolution	171
10.2	Energy inputs of agriculture	173
10.3	Limitations on cropland	175
10.4	The demographic transition	178
10.5	Urbanization	180
10.6	Achieving economic equality	182
10.7	The need for new values	186
11.	THE PROBLEM OF WAR	193
11.1	The passions of mankind	193
11.2	Modern weapons	197
11.3	War as a business	207
11.4	War as a hindrance to global equality	210
11.5	Global inequalities as a hindrance to peace	212
11.6	The future of global governance	213
11.7	Global ethics	218
12.	SCIENCE: ITS OPPORTUNITIES AND DANGERS	229
12.1	Science as organized knowledge	229
12.2	Exponential growth	232
12.3	Patrons of science and engineering	233
12.4	Rapidly growing fields	235
12.5	Science and technology out of control?	243
12.6	The need for ethics	245
13.	LEARNING TO LIVE IN HARMONY	263
13.1	New goals for education	263
13.2	Learning from pre-industrial cultures	265
13.3	Science and social institutions	271
13.4	Building the future	274
	Appendix A The Carnot cycle	283
A.1	Entropy	283

A.2 The efficiency of heat engines	285
Appendix B Dangers of nuclear power generation	289
B.1 The Chernobyl disaster	289
B.2 Reactors and nuclear weapons	291
Index	301