

I Hanssen-Bauer is a meteorologist by training, and leads the Climate Research Section at the Norwegian Meteorological Institute (met.no). She has a Dr Scient in meteorology from the University in Bergen, Norway. Recent work involves analyses of historical meteorological observations as well as empirical-statistical downscaling of future climate scenarios in Norway and in the Arctic.