

Contents

Preface	xv
Acknowledgments	xxvii
Section I From Under-Development to Self-Reliance	1
Chapter 1 Introduction: A Kaleidoscopic Survey of Under-Development and Its Solution	3
1.1 Third World predicament	3
1.2 Asian economic scene	5
1.3 Functionally-sustainable communities for local economic empowerment and governance	7
1.4 Progressive socio-economic utilization system within FSCs	9
1.5 Alternative political structure for harmonious and peaceful psychology and living setup	10
1.6 Socio-economic democratic electoral and governance structure within FSCs	12
1.7 Stepwise global political restructuring	14
1.8 The economic system to be implemented at the grassroots level within FSC	17
1.9 The financial aspect of intra and inter RFD development and trading	18
1.10 World government and constitution for human rights and enlightened living	19
Chapter 2 Third World Under-Development and Need for Self-Reliance	23
2.1 Under-development	23
2.2 Under-developed economy versus exploitative development	24
2.3 Economic colonization	25
2.4 Political apathy and indifference	26

2.5	Globalization: a neo-economic colonization?	27
2.6	The “totally neglected Fourth World” of culturally suppressed communities and destitutes	29
2.7	Neo Socio-economic-political order	31
2.8	Collective capitalism and Socio-economic democracy	32
2.9	Optimal utilization of resources within self-reliant communities	33
Chapter 3 Functionally-Sustainable Communities: Socio-economic-political Framework		37
3.1	Etiology of under-development	37
3.2	Background and development strategy	37
3.3	Functionally-sustainable communities	39
3.4	FSC development through local empowerment	41
3.5	Community development through cooperatives	42
3.6	Towards a stable socio-economic democracy for a progressive society	43
3.7	People-centric governance	45
3.8	Community-development politicization (CDP)	46
Chapter 4 Neo-global Political Governance Structure		51
4.1	People’s dilemma and future	51
4.2	Formation of functionally-sustainable communities	53
4.3	Self-reliant economy	54
4.4	Neo-organization of world political structure	55
4.5	Illustration of the SEB-SEZ concept	56
4.6	Towards global stability	57
4.7	Formulation of the neo-political organization and governance system	58
4.8	Present-day lamentable societal setup versus neo societal order	60
Chapter 5 Functionally-Sustainable Community (FSC) Design		63
5.1	For poverty eradication and Third World development	63
5.2	Planning for self-reliant regional development	63
5.3	Community development engineering and SRC design	64

5.4	FSC implementation through collective capitalism and socio-economic democracy	69
5.5	For local and regional development and self-reliance	70
5.6	Educational program	70
5.7	Societal impact	72
Section II From Corporatism to Cooperatism, and Power-Politics to Peace-Politics		77
Chapter 6 For an Enlightened Human Society		79
6.1	Progressive human society	79
6.2	Collective psychology	80
6.3	Human values and law	82
6.4	Constitutional law	84
6.5	Synergism in society	85
6.6	For renaissance in society	88
Chapter 7 Corporate Capitalism to Cooperative Capitalism and Social Democracy		93
7.1	Our disabled human society needs rehabilitation	93
7.2	Replacement of problematic economic political systems	94
7.3	Indigenous people's empowerment	96
7.4	Self-dismantling of corporate capitalism	97
7.5	Reforming the corporation's management culture	100
7.6	Capitalistic democracy versus socio-economic democracy	102
7.7	Educational qualifications for politicians, and civil and governance services	105
7.8	Synergy of science, education and socio-economic order	106
Chapter 8 State and Group Terrorism, Justice and Reparation		109
8.1	Trails of terrorism	109
8.2	Freedom struggles from perpetrated injustices	111
8.3	Freedom from terrorism	116
8.4	Premises for peace	118

8.5	Reparation programs	121
8.6	Global movements	124
Chapter 9 Ethics of Politics: Politician versus People Sovereignty		127
9.1	The powerful weaponry trade	127
9.2	Ethics of democracy	128
9.3	Safeguarding people from malevolent regimes and outside interventions	130
9.4	Ethics of nations and the power of ethics	132
9.5	Hyperpower consciousness and the conscience of a hyperpower	135
9.6	Quality of life	138
9.7	In the fast lane to world government	141
Chapter 10 From United Nations to World Government		143
10.1	The United Nations Charter	143
10.2	UN Millennium declaration and principles values	144
10.3	For human development and deepening democracy	145
10.4	Globalization	147
10.5	Political alliances and national security	148
10.6	Influence of the UN?	149
10.7	International Code of Conduct	151
10.8	The vision and mission of the world government	152
10.9	World government structure	153
10.10	Globalization and the peace program	154
Section III Real Democracy and Neo-humanistic Global Order		157
Chapter 11 Socio-economic Democracy: Governance, Economic and Financial Policy		159
11.1	Failure of democracy	159
11.2	Protesting in the face of repression: treason or patriotism	160
11.3	What is socio-economic democracy?	162
11.4	Socio-economic principles	163

11.5	Balanced self-reliant economy	166
11.6	Resource management	168
11.7	Economic framework	169
11.8	Capitalist to Cooperative economic model	171
Chapter 12 Truly Democratic Electoral Governance System and Global Political Structure		175
12.1	Shortcomings of the present democratic governance system	175
12.2	Socio-economic democracy through cooperatives	177
12.3	Neo-system of governance	179
12.4	Neo-global governance-electoral system	180
12.5	FSC, SED and SEZ governments' establishment	181
12.6	Constituting federational and world governments	183
12.7	Ignorance factor in conventional democratic system	187
Chapter 13 Human Rights and Constitutional Guarantees		189
13.1	Lessons from history	189
13.2	For democratic and political pluralism	190
13.3	Need for human rights and conscientious governance	191
13.4	Human rights in a progressive society	193
13.5	Economic democratic guarantees for the people	195
13.6	Constitutional requirements for a progressive society	196
13.7	Specific constitutional requirements at FSC, SEZ and RFD levels	198
13.8	Knowledgeable governance with sincerity and morality	199
Chapter 14 Civilian-Centered Neo-humanistic Global Order		203
14.1	Neo-humanistic social outlook	203
14.2	Neo-humanistic socio-economic system	204
14.3	Neo-humanistic political governance and judicial systems	206
14.4	Neo-humanistic societal culture	208
14.5	Neo-global order	210
14.6	Politicians decide and civilians suffer — But who adjudicates?	213
14.7	Time to restore human dignity	214

Section IV	Towards Universal Renaissance	217
Chapter 15	Neo-humanistic University System	219
15.1	Justification and need	219
15.2	Charter	220
15.3	Academic programs	221
15.4	Research institutes	222
15.5	University education for a progressive society	226
15.6	University as a community development agent in developing countries	228
15.7	Third World development academic (graduate) program	229
15.8	Impact of NHU on society	231
Chapter 16	Replacing Hypocrisy by Straightforwardness	235
16.1	Maintaining humanism in spite of persecution — a hallmark of being civilized	235
16.2	Setting straight the historical record of maritime discoveries and atrocities	236
16.3	From pseudo democracy to real democracy	238
16.4	For a competent and moral governance system	239
16.5	Towards equal partnership in brokering global peace and security	240
16.6	From power-centric dictatorial hegemonism to global democracy and parity	241
16.7	For obviating terrorism	243
16.8	Towards a global neo-humanistic cooperative	245
16.9	Progressing to a neo-humanistic civilization	246
16.10	Travelling light to our destination	247
Chapter 17	Sustainable Global Peace with Equitable Globalization: Strategizing the Role of the University in Society	249
17.1	Humanitarian law and progressive equitable political order	249
17.2	New global order	251
17.3	Cooperative globalization based on International capitalism	254
17.4	Community Development and Economic Partnership (CDEP) program	256

17.5	From exploitative political order (EPO) to a progressive equitable political order (PEPO)	258
17.6	Towards sustainable global peace	259
Chapter 18	Epilogue: Towards a Neo-era of Peace, Security and Enlightened Living	263
18.1	The lamentable tale of anti-democratic global orders	263
18.2	The partyless socio-economic democratic governance system	266
18.3	Relocating economy among the people generating economy	269
18.4	Human rights and democratic global order of parity among all nations	270
18.5	Towards global security	271
18.6	Summary of neo-concepts introduced in this book	273
18.7	Living neo-humanistically	275
Index		277