

Contents

Acknowledgements	xi
Chapter 1 Entrepreneurship is Becoming a Social Movement	1
Figure 1.1. Triple helix for developing entrepreneurial intent	4
1.1 Social Changes — The Driving Forces of Change	5
1.1.1 Free Markets and Democracy	6
1.1.2 The Business of Government is not Business	6
1.1.3 Brain Circulation	7
1.1.4 Social Networks	9
1.1.5 Commercialising Knowledge	9
1.1.6 I am from Government — I am Here to Help	10
1.1.6.1 The Evidence of a Growth in Enterprise	13
1.1.6.2 Here is why an Entrepreneur Thinks it is Important	14
1.1.7 As One of My Family Elders Said “Even Educated People are Going into Business”	15
1.1.7.1 Consider these Situations	17
1.2 Enterprising Communities — The Next Stage of Enterprise Development	18
Chapter 2 A Helicopter View of Entrepreneurship	21
2.1 So — What is the Heffalump?	21
2.2 A Bit of History — Economic Theories Underlying Entrepreneurship	22

2.2.1	Classical Capitalist Economic Theory	23
2.2.2	Neoclassical Theory	23
2.2.3	The Austrian School	23
2.3	The Entrepreneur as a Decision Maker	24
2.3.1	Types of Entrepreneur?	24
2.3.2	Six Dimensions — Howard Stevenson	25
2.3.3	The Entrepreneurial Mind — Jeffrey Timmons	26
2.3.4	The 10 D's — William Bygrave	27
2.4	The Entrepreneurial Process	27
2.5	It Is Like Cod Liver Oil — Good for You But We Don't Know Why!	30
Chapter 3	Entrepreneurship Education is Not Just Strategy Made Simple!	35
3.1	Efficiency and Effectiveness	36
3.2	Small is Beautiful	38
3.2.1	What did all this Mean to Entrepreneurship Education?	40
3.3	The Menu	41
3.3.1	Entrepreneurial Processes	41
3.3.2	Simulations	42
3.3.3	Case Studies	42
3.3.4	Metaphors	43
3.3.5	Action Learning	43
3.3.6	Tasks as a Subset of Action Learning	44
3.3.7	Rich Pictures	45
3.3.8	Reflections	45
3.3.9	Standard Lectures	46
3.4	Personal Development Blended with Business Development	46
3.5	Neighbouring Domains of Knowledge	47
3.6	So What?	47

3.7	Entrepreneurial Self-Help	48
3.7.1	Television	50
	More recently, we have seen a secondary surge of public events, this time driven not by policy or educational institutions but by the media, ever hungry for new formats. So we see TV programmes like	50
Chapter 4	Bringing it All Together	55
4.1	Enterprise Tuesday	59
4.1.1	Evolution of Enterprise Tuesday	60
4.2	Operational Elements	60
4.2.1	Overall Cost Elements of Enterprise Tuesday	61
4.2.2	ETECH Projects	62
4.2.3	Ignite	63
	4.2.3.1 Guiding principles for Ignite	66
4.3	Advanced Diploma in Entrepreneurship	67
4.3.1	Enterprisers	67
Chapter 5	Enterprisers — A Bold Experiment	69
5.1	A Brief History	69
5.2	CMI-Connections Is Born	70
5.2.1	The Programme Evolves — Connections to Enterprisers	70
5.3	The Enterprisers Journey	72
5.3.1	Day One — Moi	72
5.3.2	Day Two — Ideation	72
5.3.3	Day Three — Nuts’n’Bolts	73
5.3.4	Day Four — Crystal Ball	73
5.4	Enterprisers Timetable	73
5.4.1	Social Aspects	75
	5.4.1.1 Rules of engagement	75

5.4.1.2	Student selection — Some considerations	77
5.4.1.3	Choosing a venue	77
5.5	The Overarching Goal of Enterprisers	78
Chapter 6	Facilitators, Facilitation and the Administrative Team	87
6.1	Facilitative Leaders	87
6.2	Facilitative Model	88
6.3	Facilitator Criteria	89
6.4	Lead Facilitators: Coordinating the Show	89
6.4.1	Minimal Criteria	89
6.4.2	Desirables	90
6.4.3	Unacceptable Attributes	90
6.5	Facilitators	90
6.5.1	What is Facilitation?	90
6.5.2	Facilitators: Desired Qualities	93
6.5.2.1	Minimal criteria	93
6.5.2.2	Desirables	93
6.5.2.3	Unacceptable attributes	93
6.5.3	Student Facilitators: Desired Qualities	93
6.5.3.1	Minimal criteria	94
6.5.3.2	Desirables	94
6.5.3.3	Unacceptable attributes	94
6.6	An Emphasis on Facilitation Skills	95
6.7	Modes of Interactions	95
6.8	Styles of Facilitation	96
6.9	Stages of Group Development	100
6.10	Key Facilitation Skills	101
6.11	Behind Every Successful Programme	102
6.11.1	An Administrative Team	102
6.11.2	The Planning Stage	103
6.11.3	And So It Begins	104

6.12	After the Programme	108
6.12.1	The Work Continues	108
6.13	Lessons Learned	109
Chapter 7	Evaluating Enterprisers: A Look at Findings about Self-Efficacy	111
7.1	Entrepreneurship in a Changing World	113
7.2	The Development of Self-efficacy	113
7.3	Bandura’s Sources of Self-Efficacy	115
7.4	Can Teaching Cultivate Self-Efficacy?	117
7.5	A Reflective Moment	117
7.5.1	The Enterprisers Curriculum and Delivery	117
7.6	The Enterprisers’ “Can Do” Attitude	118
7.6.1	And Self-Efficacy	118
7.7	Measuring Self-Efficacy	119
7.7.1	The Methodology	119
7.8	Lessons Learned	123
Chapter 8	Cases and Speechless Moments!	125
8.1	Dr Sunny Kotecha — Participant and Facilitator	126
8.2	Skeleton Productions	127
8.3	Katie Hart — Participant and Facilitator	128
8.4	Jesse Costelloe — Australia	129
8.5	Jessamy Kelly Juo Ltd — Participant and Entrepreneur	130
8.6	Chris Ireland — Participant and Ambassador in the Public Sector	131
8.7	Matias Piipari — Participant and Entrepreneur	132
8.8	James Duggan — Participant and Social Entrepreneur	133
8.9	David Owen	134

8.10	University of Sussex — Capturing Institutional Impact	135
8.10.1	Collaborations	137
8.10.2	Creating an Enterprising Culture at the University	143
8.10.3	Adoption of Tools from Enterprisers for Use at Sussex	148
8.11	Newcastle University	150
8.12	The Ah Ha Moments — What Shai and Neal have Learned after Many Experiments	154