Prof. Martin Holland
Director
National Centre for Research on Europe
University of Canterbury

Martin Holland holds a Jean Monnet Chair ad personam and is the Director of the National Centre for Research on Europe (NCRE) at the University of Canterbury. Since writing his PhD at the University of Exeter, United Kingdom, on the 1979 direct elections to the European Parliament, he has specialised in the analysis of the European Union (EU)'s external relations, initially in terms of European Political Co-operation and latterly through the Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP).

His research on EU-South African relations during the apartheid and post-apartheid eras is particularly well-known and saw Holland involved as a practitioner in one of the EU's first election observer missions to monitor the first democratic non-racial South African election in 1994. More recently, he has focused his research interests most broadly on the EU's global development policy and on the perceptions of the EU in third countries.

Mr. Peter Ryan
Director for Intellectual Exchange
Asia-Europe Foundation

Peter Ryan, a career diplomat from Ireland, joined ASEF as the Director of the Intellectual Exchange Department in September 2006. He received his undergraduate and postgraduate degrees from the National University of Ireland in Dublin and worked in Ireland and Australia in the banking sector before joining the Department of Foreign Affairs of Ireland in 1994.

His strong interest in Asian-European relations stems from his appointments to the Irish Embassies in Japan, Korea and Singapore. In addition, he served as Deputy Director, Asia-Pacific in the Bilateral Economic Relations Division of the Department of Foreign Affairs.

Prior to joining ASEF he was based in Singapore covering eBusiness and New Technologies in the Asia-Pacific Region for the Department of Communications, Marine and Natural Resources of Ireland.

Peter Ryan is married with two children.
