

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
Introduction	1
Documentation	1
The Pioneer Women Chemists	2
Setting the Scene	4
The Colleges and Universities	5
Favoured Fields for Women Chemists	7
Options for Women Chemists	8
Commentary	9
1. Getting an Education	11
Education for Girls	11
Pioneering Schools	13
North London Collegiate School	15
The Girls' Public Day Schools	17
Cheltenham Ladies' College	19
King Edward VI High School for Girls	21
Manchester High School for Girls	23
Chemistry in the Girls' Schools	24
Which Schools Produced Women Chemistry Students?	27
What Sort of Science?	29
University for Women?	33
The New Girl	33

University Women: For and Against	35
Who Went to University?	38
The Choice of University	40
School–University Links	41
Commentary	42
2. The Professional Societies	53
The London Chemical Society	54
The Society for Analytical Chemistry	55
Isabel Hadfield	55
The Royal Institute of Chemistry	56
Emily Lloyd	56
Rose Stern	57
The Biochemical Society	58
Ida Smedley (Mrs. Smedley Maclean)	58
Harriette Chick	61
The Chemical Society	62
The 1904 Petition	64
The Effect of the Petition	68
The Proponents and Opponents of Women’s Admission	72
The 1909 Letter	74
The Lesser-Known Signatories of the Letter	77
Admission at Last	78
The Lesser-Known Initial Members	79
The Women Chemists’ Dining Club	82
The Royal Society	84
Commentary	87
3. The London Co-educational Colleges	95
Admission of Women to the University of London Examinations	95
University College	98
Emily Aston	98
Katherine Burke	99
Other Women Researchers	100

King's College	101
The Women's Department of King's College	102
Margaret Seward (Mrs. McKillop)	105
Chemistry at the King's College of Household and Social Science	107
Helen Masters	108
Marion Soar	109
Agnes Browne (Mrs. Jackman)	109
Mary Thompson (Mrs. Clayton)	110
The Laboratory of Professor Huntington	111
Battersea Polytechnic	112
Mary Corner	115
East London College (Queen Mary College)	115
Kathleen Balls	116
Cecilie French	116
Dorothea Grove	118
Imperial College	119
Women Chemistry Students	120
Martha Whiteley	122
Margaret Carlton	124
Frances Micklethwait	124
Helen Archbold (Mrs. Porter)	125
Commentary	127
4. The London Women's Colleges	135
Queen's College, Harley Street	135
Bedford College	137
The Founding of the Chemistry Department	137
Women Staff of the 1920s	139
Mary Lesslie	141
Violet Trew	143
The Next Generation of Women Staff	145
Women Chemistry Students	146
Edith Humphrey	148
Rosalind Henley (Mrs. Pitt-Rivers)	150

Royal Holloway College	151
E. Eleanor Field	152
Mary Boyle	153
The Succession Controversy	154
Millicent Plant	155
Women Chemistry Students	156
London School of Medicine for Women	157
Lucy Boole	158
Clare de Brereton Evans	159
Sibyl Widdows	160
Phyllis Sanderson	162
Other Women Chemists	163
Commentary	163
5. English Provincial Universities	171
Armstrong College (University of Newcastle)	172
Grace Leitch	173
Catherine Mallen (Mrs. Elmes)	174
Life for Women Students	174
Owens College (Victoria University of Manchester)	175
Life for Women Students	176
Leonore Kletz (Mrs. Kletz Pearson)	177
May Badger (Mrs. Craven)	178
The Manchester University Chemical Society	179
Lucy Higginbotham	180
University College, Liverpool (University of Liverpool)	181
The University of Liverpool Chemical Society	182
Edith Morrison	184
Eileen Sadler (Mrs. Doran)	184
Women Analytical Chemists	185
Yorkshire College (University of Leeds)	186
Arthur Smithells	186
Women Chemistry Students	187
May Leslie (Mrs. Burr)	188

University College, Sheffield (University of Sheffield)	190
The Chemistry Department in the First World War	191
Emily Turner	191
Dorothy Bennett (Mrs. Leighton)	193
The Sheffield University Chemical Society	194
Mason College (University of Birmingham)	195
Women Chemistry Students	196
Evelyn Hickmans	198
University College, Bristol (University of Bristol)	199
Women Chemistry Students	200
Millicent Taylor	200
Katherine Williams	202
Emily Fortey	203
Millicent King	204
Commentary	205
6. The Cambridge and Oxford Women's Colleges	215
Admission to Cambridge	215
The First Victory	217
The Newcastle Memorial	217
The 1897 Battle	219
Trinity College and the 'Steamboat Ladies'	220
The 1920 Battle	221
Success in 1947	224
Girton and Newnham Colleges	224
Women Chemistry Students	225
Ida Freund	226
Dorothy Marshall	229
Beatrice Thomas	230
Mary Johnson (Mrs. Clark)	233
Delia Simpson (Mrs. Agar)	234
Sosheila Ram	235

Oxford Women's Colleges	236
The Founding of the Colleges	237
Admission to the University	240
Oxford: A Men's University	240
Women Chemistry Students	242
The Alembic Club	244
Women Chemists and the Dyson–Perrins Laboratory	245
Muriel Tomlinson	248
Rosemary Murray	250
Commentary	251
7. Universities in Scotland and Wales	261
Girl's Education in Scotland	261
Entry of Women to Scottish Universities	263
Life of Scottish Women Students	264
University of St. Andrews	266
Life for Women Students	266
Women Chemistry Students	267
Agnes Moodie	268
Ettie Steele	268
Ishbel Campbell	269
Helen Gilchrist	271
University College, Dundee	272
Life for Women Students	272
Nellie Walker (Mrs. Wishart)	274
Isobel Agnes Smith	274
Ethel Luis	275
Women Chemistry Students	275
Heather Beveridge	276
University of Aberdeen	277
Life for Women Students	278
Women Chemistry Students	278
Ada Hitchins (Mrs. Stephens)	279
Beatrice Simpson	281

Marion Richards	281
Alice Bain	282
University of Edinburgh	282
Life for Women Students	283
Women Chemistry Students	284
Edith Pechey (Mrs. Pechey-Phipson)	285
Christina Miller	286
Elizabeth Kempson (Mrs. Percival, Mrs. McDowell)	289
University of Glasgow and the Royal Technical College, Glasgow	290
Queen Margaret College	290
Margaret Sutherland	292
Women Chemistry Students	293
Ruth Pirret	294
Mary Andross	295
Education in Wales	296
University College of North Wales, Bangor	297
Alice Smith	298
Commentary	299
8. Hoppy's 'Biochemical Ladies'	309
Women and Biochemistry	309
Frederick Gowland Hopkins	310
Some Women Biochemists at Cambridge	313
Edith Willcock	314
Muriel Wheldale (Mrs. Onslow)	316
Marjory Stephenson	320
Dorothy Jordan Lloyd	323
Dorothy Moyle (Mrs. Needham)	325
Commentary	328
9. Women Crystallographers	335
The Early History	335
Mary (Polly) Porter	336

The Braggs and X-ray Crystallography	337
The Braggs and Women Researchers	338
Ellie Knaggs	340
Kathleen Yardley (Mrs. Lonsdale)	342
The Influence of J. D. Bernal	347
Winifred Booth Wright	348
Helen Megaw	349
Dorothy Crowfoot (Mrs. Hodgkin)	351
Rosalind Franklin	359
Dorothy Wrinch	367
Commentary	371
10. Women in Pharmacy	383
Society of Apothecaries	383
Pharmaceutical Society	385
The Pharmacy Examinations	385
Admission of Women to the Pharmaceutical Society	386
Robert Hampson and His Crusade	388
Society for Promoting the Employment of Women	390
Success at Last	390
More Challenges	393
Employment of Women Pharmacists	395
Association of Women Pharmacists	398
Early Pioneers	400
Margaret Buchanan	402
Agnes Borrowman	404
Dorothy Bartlett (Mrs. Storey)	406
Hope Winch	407
Elsie Hooper (Mrs. Higgon)	408
Nora Renouf	409
Ella Caird (Mrs. Corfield) and Elsie Woodward (Mrs. Kassner)	410
Agnes Lothian (Mrs. Short)	412
Commentary	413

11. The Role of Chemists' Wives	421
The Amateur Assistant	422
Kathleen Holland (Mrs. Lapworth)	422
Winifred Beilby (Mrs. Soddy)	423
Grace Toynbee (Mrs. Frankland)	424
The Woman Chemist as Professor's Wife	425
Marjory Wilson-Smith (Mrs. Farmer)	427
The Independent Wife-Chemist	428
The Collaborative Couples	429
Mildred Gostling (Mrs. Mills)	429
Ellen Field (Mrs. Stedman)	430
Mary Laing (Mrs. McBain)	432
Catherine Tideman (Mrs. LeFèvre)	433
A Contrast in Women Organic Chemists	434
Gertrude (Gertie) Walsh (Mrs. Robinson)	435
Hilda Usherwood (Mrs. Ingold)	438
Commentary	441
12. Women Chemists and the First World War	447
The War and Young Women	447
Women Chemists in Organic Synthesis	450
Phyllis McKie	453
Ruth King	454
Women Chemists and the War Gases	454
Winifred Hurst (Mrs. Wright)	455
Women Chemists in Industry	456
Women as Industrial Analytical Chemists	457
Women in Biochemistry	459
Annie Homer	460
Other War Work by Women Chemists	461
Lovelyn Eustice (Mrs. Bickerstaffe)	461
Hilda Judd	462
Dorothea Hoffert (Mrs. Bedson)	463
Traditional Roles for Women	464
Jesse Slater	464
Commentary	465

13. The Interwar Period and Beyond	471
The Interwar Period	471
Life for Women Students	471
The Employment of Women	473
The Employability of Women Chemists	475
The Woman ‘Super-Chemist’ as Negative Role Model	476
Women Chemists in Teaching Careers	477
Hazel Reason	478
College and University Chemistry Teaching	479
Hilda Hartle	479
Peggy Lunam (Mrs. Edge)	481
Frances Burdett	481
Women in Chemical Industry	482
The Employability of Women Chemists	483
Kathleen Culhane (Mrs. Lathbury)	485
Women Chemists in the Food Industry	488
Ethel Beeching	488
Mamie Olliver	489
Winifred Adams	491
Enid Bradford (Mrs. Bentley)	491
Women Chemists in Biomedical Laboratories	492
Katherine Coward	493
Winifred (Freda) Wright	494
Mollie Barr	495
Elsie Widdowson	496
Women Chemists in the Photographic Industry	498
Frances Hamer	498
Nellie Fisher	501
Women Chemists in Other Research Laboratories	502
Rona Robinson	502
Edith Pawsey (Mrs. Murch)	503
Gwenyth Gell and Mavis Gell (Mrs. Tiller)	504

Women Chemists as Scientific Librarians and Indexers	504
Enid Pope (Mrs. Hulsken)	505
Margaret Dougal	506
Margaret Le Pla	506
Margaret Whetham (Mrs. Anderson)	507
Women Chemists as Factory Inspectors	508
Dorothy Fox (Mrs. Richards)	509
Women Chemists in the 1940s	510
Life for Women Students	510
Employment of Women Chemists in the Second World War	511
Jessie Mole	512
Vera Furness	513
Elizabeth Frith (Mrs. Tuckett)	514
Antoinette (Tony) Patey (Mrs. Pirie)	514
Patricia Green (Mrs. Clarke)	516
The Late- and After-Career of Some Women Chemists	517
Commentary	518
Index	529