

Professor Ian Constable is an internationally renowned ophthalmic surgeon with a distinguished record of eye research and development in many areas. He was appointed Professor of Ophthalmology at the University of Western Australia in 1975 and established the Lions Eye Institute in 1983 and since has acted as Director. He founded Q-Vis in 1997 and performed the first excimer (gas) laser treatments carried out in Australia in 1991.