

Kylie Bell is a highly respected educator and researcher. With a Master of Education, she has specialised in Early Childhood research for several years. Kylie's fields of expertise encompass educational, developmental and cognitive psychology, literacy, thinking and creativity. She also brings her extensive experience in drama and performance to her work with children.